OUR VISION is to achieve full inclusion of people who are visually impaired in society. We help people make informed choices about their individual goals, focusing on successful employment, independent living, and social and financial self-sufficiency. We provide a wide variety of training and services at no cost to qualified participants.

Our vision is clear.

Blind Services

Blind Oregonians...

- Have jobs, careers and participate in their communities
- Engage in leisure, recreational, and volunteer activities
- Travel independently, read, and experience life to the fullest

Are you or someone in your family affected by vision loss or impairment?

The Oregon Commission for the Blind is here to help. We understand that simple tasks like grocery shopping and paying bills can be hard for those who are visually impaired.

The Commission's trained staff works with people affected by vision loss to live fuller, more independent lives. Best of all, these services are free of charge to Oregonians who qualify.

We offer a wide range of services

Learn to get around safely using alternate senses, a cane, and other methods.

Explore reading and writing using braille, talking computers, and other alternatives.

Adjust to vision loss through our individual, group, and family counseling.

Gain tips for everyday tasks like shopping, telling time, and identifying clothing and money.

Make the most of remaining vision with optical aids, lighting, recognizing objects by shape and color.

Get assistance in setting job goals and gaining active employment.

Technology-learn new ways to use computers and other tools to help store and retrieve information.
