New Communication Channels for Recreational Marijuana Licensees

Oregon Department of Agriculture Creates Cannabis ListServ Metrc Launches Twitter Handle

Portland, Oregon – Two of the Oregon Liquor Control Commission’s partners in regulating Oregon’s Recreational Marijuana market have announced new channels for communicating with the marijuana industry and other stakeholders.

The Oregon Department of Agriculture has started a ListServ for cannabis cultivators. ODA has published an infographic about its role regulating cannabis. You can sign up for the ODA Cannabis ListServ here. You can find additional information here on the ODA Cannabis program.

Franwell Metrc™, the state of Oregon’s Cannabis Tracking System provider, has a new Twitter handle it’s using to communicate with the marijuana industry. Metrc will use its Twitter account to provide updates on product updates, training programs and schedules, and administrative updates. Metrc’s Twitter handle is: @Official_Metrc
