The Oregon State Police (OSP) Fish and Wildlife Division recognized the impressive work of troopers assigned to the Portland Team when Captain Jeff Samuels announced Wednesday they were the recipients of the Division's "Team of the Year" award for 2012 during a presentation at the Portland office. This is the seventh presentation of the award since the Division implemented a new program celebrating and recognizing the outstanding teamwork by OSP Fish and Wildlife troopers in protecting Oregon's natural resources.

Led by Sergeant Chris Allori, the six-member Portland Team is comprised of one sergeant and five troopers assigned to the OSP office in Portland.

Team members are; Sgt. Chris Allori, Tpr. Mike Reel, Tpr. Caleb Borchers, Tpr. Kevin Ferguson, Tpr. Mark Schoenborn, and Tpr. Chris Boeholt.

"This team works extremely well together covering a multitude of diverse fish and wildlife issues in both metropolitan and rural environments. I am very impressed at their level of teamwork, service to the public, and protection of natural resources" said Captain Samuels.

In 2012, OSP Portland Team members distinguished themselves by their exceptional performance conducting complex criminal fish and wildlife cases. Dedicated to their public service through outstanding teamwork, the team's members possess a depth of knowledge; with a combined 45 years of OSP law enforcement experience. The OSP Portland Team directs its efforts to the enforcement of Fish and Wildlife regulations in the area surrounding the state's largest metropolitan area and its relation to both the Willamette and Columbia Rivers. This team patrols all or portions of Clackamas, Multnomah and Washington Counties to include the Mount Hood wilderness area. Responsible for ensuring compliance with natural resource regulations, this team protects a multitude of species including salmonids, sturgeon and other fish species, big game and waterfowl. The team also addresses Marine Board issues in local water bodies and rivers by enforcing boating safety laws, to name but a few of their responsibilities.

During 2012, the Portland Team had several notable cases relating to both natural resource protection and general law. A few of the year's highlights involving the Portland Team were:

- * Tpr. Reel received an anonymous tip regarding a hunter who shot a 6 x 7 bull elk prior to the opening of the Cascade bull elk season. Tpr. Reel and Tpr. Schoenborn contacted the hunter at his Estacada residence. During the interview he admitted to shooting a 6 x 7 bull in October, eight days before the season opened. The subject is also a convicted felon, prohibited from possessing a firearm. The troopers charged him with Felon in Possession of a Firearm x 3 and Unlawful Possession of a Bull Elk and seized a 6 x 7 European mount, three rifles, and about 100 pounds of elk meat.

- *Tpr. Borchers, Tpr. Boeholt, Tpr. Reel, and Tpr. Schoenborn worked a night foot patrol on Swan Island along the Willamette River and located three anglers at about 8:00 p.m. Tpr. Borchers approached and observed one subject attempt to hide a 43-inch sturgeon in the bushes and five rods with lines in the water. When contacted, the subsequent investigation revealed they were using barbed hooks and there was a second sturgeon in one of the subject's vehicles. The troopers issued all three subjects multiple criminal citations, including Unlawful Possession of Sturgeon, Angling Prohibited Hours, Angling Prohibited Method—Barbed Hooks, and Angling with More than One Rod and seized all five rods and two sturgeon.
- *Operation Leviathan was a detail that the Portland Office worked to address issues with the Lower Willamette River sturgeon season. The season, which was only open for two days for sturgeon retention, attracted several thousand anglers. The following statistics were generated from this detail; 42 angling citations issued, 68 angling warnings issued, 1 felony warrant arrest and 2 PCS-LTO citations issued. Additionally, 1,154 angler checks were performed and 9 illegal sturgeon were seized.
- *In January, Sr. Tpr. Reel and Tprs. Boeholt, Borchers and Schoenborn conducted a four person foot patrol at night on Swan Island along the Willamette River in Portland. The officers located three people illegally angling for sturgeon. They also observed one of the anglers hide an illegal sturgeon. The group was contacted and issued citations for Unlawful Possess of Sturgeon, Angling Prohibited Hours, Angling Prohibited Method (barbed hooks) and Angling with More than One Line. Two sturgeon and five fishing poles were seized.
- *In May, Tpr. Reel and Tpr. Ferguson stopped a vehicle for Speeding on Hwy 224 in Milwaukie. Upon contact with the driver, Ferguson noticed indicators of drug impairment. The driver consented to and failed SFSTs, and the troopers arrested the subject for DUII. A search of the vehicle incident to the arrest revealed evidence of possession and distribution of heroin and methamphetamine and seizure of multiple cell phones and cash. After completing an evaluation, the troopers lodged the subject in jail for Unlawful Delivery of a Controlled Substance (UDCS)—Heroin, UDCS—Methamphetamine, UPCS—Heroin, UPCS—Methamphetamine, and DUII—Controlled Substance. Tpr. Schoenborn and Tpr. Borchers assisted with the custody of the suspect and vehicle search.
- *In October, Tpr. Schoenborn received a call from a property owner who found the remains of an elk on private property. Tpr. Schoenborn, Sr. Tpr. Reel and Tpr. Borchers responded and located the remains. Subsequent investigation led to the identification of a suspect. Tpr. Schoenborn and Tpr. Borchers interviewed the suspect who admitted to killing the elk and that he did not have permission to hunt on the private property. The hunter was issued a criminal citation for Hunting Enclosed Land of Another and Criminal Trespass. Approximately 150 pounds of processed elk meat was seized.
- *On December 10th, 2012; within minutes of the first 911 call, four members from the Portland Team responded to the active shooter incident at the Clackamas Town Center. Among the first officers on scene, two of the responding Portland F&W troopers entered the mall searching for the shooter and the other two F&W troopers were detailed to securing the outside perimeter.

Angler Retains Native Trout at Laurance Lake

Tpr. Frazier contacted a subject near his camp space at Laurance Lake walking up from the lake.

They were carrying a stringer of fish with four in their possession which they had caught. One of the fish was a native trout. The suspect stated that he knew the regulations for Laurance Lake. Tpr. Frazier showed him a copy of the regulations, and he agreed that he missed the line that stated unlawful to retain native bull trout. Tpr. Frazier seized the trout and turned it into the Rowena Wildlife Clinic.

Suspects Cited for Attempting to Snag Salmon

Tpr. Nugent cited two men for Attempting to Snag Salmon at Slide Hole on the Rogue River. There were several fishermen at the hole, but two of them were jerking their rod tips heavily several times after each cast. When they saw Tpr. Nugent approaching, they changed their fishing technique and quit jerking their rod tips. However, Tpr. Nugent had been watching them for a while already.

Multiple Citations Issued by Columbia River Patrol

Tpr. Herman and Tpr. O'Connor conducted a boat patrol on the Columbia River out of Astoria and contacted a vessel with four anglers aboard, who stated that they had caught 3 sturgeon. The troopers could see two sturgeon hanging off of the starboard side of the boat, and when they circled around to the port side, they saw three additional sturgeon hanging off of the port side. One of the anglers admitted to retaining two of the sturgeon, both of which were under the legal size. The angler said that his friend, who was a guide on a separate boat upstream, needed another sturgeon for his boat. A second angler on the boat had retained an undersized sturgeon as well. A third angler on the boat had a previous sturgeon entry on his harvest card that had a "52" written over the top of a "44" in the size column of the tag. The first angler was cited and released criminally for Unlawful Taking Undersized Sturgeon and for Exceeding the Daily Bag Limit of Sturgeon. The second angler was cited for Unlawful Taking Undersized Sturgeon. The third angler was cited for Unlawful Possession of an Altered Harvest Card and all three sturgeon were seized.

Resident Angling License Falsely Applied For

Sr. Tpr. Gunderson checked an angler at Arlington City Park. Subsequent check of suspect revealed an expired Oregon driver's license. Suspect re-contacted and found to be in possession of valid California DL that was issued in November 2012. The suspect's resident OR angling license was issued in Mar. 2013 and the suspect had indicated that he had resided continuously in OR for 29+yrs. Suspect's license was seized as evidence and he was cited for Possession of a Falsely Applied for Resident Angling License. Persons are required to reside for six consecutive months immediately prior to the purchase of resident Oregon hunting / angling license tags.

Angling Prohibited Method Deschutes River

Sgt. Lea located a juvenile and 18yo male angling with bait in the Deschutes River. Both were currently enrolled in school and had skipped the day. Although neither had a driver license, they "borrowed" the 18yo's fathers vehicle to go fishing. The 18yo was cited for Angling Prohibited Method and they were released to a family member who had a valid drivers license.

Sauvie Island Citations

Tpr. Shimer was patrolling on Sauvie Island when he observed two subjects in the wildlife area after hours. The subjects were carrying fishing poles and said they had been salmon fishing. Both subjects produced resident Oregon angling licenses and Kansas driver's licenses. The subjects told Tpr. Shimer they both lived in Kansas and were just visiting Oregon for a couple of months. Investigation revealed the subjects had bought resident angling licenses, using a friend's address, after being in Oregon for only a month. The subjects were cited for Possession of Falsely Applied for License / Tags and their angling licenses and harvest cards were seized as evidence.

Citation for Snagging at Bonneville Dam

Sr. Tpr. Pearson observed a man at Bonneville Dam pull in a snagged shad so he drove down and contacted the man. Sr. Tpr. Pearson removed the fish and three others which had obviously been foul hooked, from the subjects cooler. The subject was cited for Retaining Foul Hooked Fish.

Citations Issued on Brownlee Reservoir

Sr. Tpr. McNeil and Tpr. Spencer did a boat patrol on Brownlee Reservoir checking boaters and anglers. Two citations were issued, one for No Non-Resident Angling License and one for No AIS Permit.

Multiple Angling Citations Issued

While conducting a boat patrol with Columbia County Marine Deputies, Tpr. Shimer observed a vessel pulling anchor rather quickly. Tpr. Shimer contacted the vessel occupants and learned that the individuals had retained two adult Chinook salmon, one of which had a freshly cut adipose fin (still bleeding.) The men stated the fish was "cut" when they reeled it in. One of the men was cited criminally for Unlawful Possession of Non-Adipose Fin Clipped Chinook Salmon and Mutilation of Game Fish. The fish was also seized. As the officers approached another boat one man on the boat stood up, ran over to a pole and cut the line. The two men on the boat initially denied having a third line in the water, but ultimately stated they had been fishing with two lines and cut one when they saw the officers approach. The men were both cited for Angling Prohibited Method-Barbed Hooks for Salmon with an additional cite for Angling with more than One Line.

Failure to Immediately Validate Sturgeon

Tpr. Frazier responded to an angling complaint of four individuals retaining sturgeon in the Cascade Locks area near Blackberry Beach. The complainant was concerned that the subjects were exceeding the daily bag limit and keeping undersize fish. Tpr. Frazier made contact with the four subjects and found them to be in possession of four sturgeon. Out of the four sturgeon, one was undersize and none had been validated on any of the subjects harvest card. Three of the subjects received citations for Failure to Immediately Validate for Sturgeon. The fourth subject was issued a citation for Unlawful Possession of Undersize Sturgeon. The sturgeon had been gilled so it was not able to be released. The sturgeon was seized for evidence.

Subjects Attempt to 'Stretch' Undersized Sturgeon

Tpr. Shimer and Tpr. Boeholt conducted a boat patrol on the Columbia River. During their patrol the troopers issued six angling citations and gave numerous angling and boating warnings. There was a group of anglers who were contacted by the troopers and they asked where they should be fishing. Tpr. Shimer suggested the men try angling near Trestle Beach. The men went to Trestle Beach where they observed two other men on shore catch a sturgeon. The men were observed measuring the fish (which appeared short) and then one man grabbed the fish by the gills as the other grabbed it by the tail and the began to pull the fish in an attempt to make it longer. The men on the boat called OSP dispatch and provided a vehicle description of the offenders. The men were stopped for a traffic violation and one man was cited for Unlawful Possession of Undersized Sturgeon and the short sturgeon was seized.

Citations at Big Creek County Park

Tpr. Warwick contacted two anglers at the Big Creek County Park who were returning to their vehicle with several Chinook salmon. When the anglers saw Tpr. Warwick, one of them quickly walked a short distance back down the trail into the brush and reemerged without the salmon he had been carrying. The other angler dropped the two fish he was carrying and pulled out a tag to try and validate the fish. Tpr. Warwick took the tag and proceeded down the trail where he found the third fish in the brush. The angler with the tag admitted to catching all three fish and said he thought he could "keep a jack" despite the fact that all three fish were obviously above jack size. Tpr. Warwick walked down the trail to a second group of anglers to inquire as to whether or not they had seen the first subject snag any of his fish. Both anglers in the second group admitted they did not have an angling license. Tpr. Warwick cited the angler from the first group for Exceeding the Daily Bag Limit of Salmon and Failure to Immediately Validate Combined Angling Harvest Card. Both anglers from the second group were cited for No Angling License. All four subjects were warned for Angling on the Enclosed Lands of Another and one Chinook salmon was seized and donated to the local food bank.

Citations near Cole Rivers Hatchery

Sr. Tpr. Thompson tried to sneak up on several men salmon fishing at the Bridge Hole on the Rogue River near Cole Rivers Hatchery. They had a lookout watching from up on the bank, who began yelling at the others when he saw the trooper approaching. One subject cut off his leader and another was trying to bite off his long leader as Sr. Tpr. Thompson was watching. Sr. Tpr. Thompson stopped him and cited him for Angling Prohibited Method - Leader over 6 Feet Long (8'6"). The other subject was cited for Attempting to Snag Salmon.

Angling While Suspended

Sr. Tpr. Niehus followed up on a subject who was reportedly Angling While Suspended. Based on the witness testimony, Sr. Tpr. Niehus was able to cite the offender for Angling While Suspended. On May 2, the defendant went with two acquaintances to BiMart in Klamath Falls and purchased a one day angling license utilizing a fraudulent ID card he received in Michigan. They then travelled over to the Shady Cove area and went fishing. The acquaintances were aware of his suspension and decided to report it.

ODFW Releases Salmon at Dexter Hatchery

tions watching anglers at the Dexter Hatchery outflow pipes and on the South shore of the river. The patrol lasted most of the morning and continued as ODFW personnel released adult salmon and steelhead back into the river. During the patrol several anglers were contacted and the following citations were issued. (1) Loaning Adult Combined Angling Harvest Tag, (1) Fail to Validate Combined Angling Harvest Tag, (1) Angling Prohibited Method Weight Attached Greater Than 6' Above Hook, (1) Unlawful Taking of Foul Hooked Game Fish (Salmon), and (1) Attempt to Snag Game Fish.

Citation for Foul-Hooked Salmon

Sr. Tpr. Stone observed an angler catch and retain a foul-hooked salmon just below the Rock Creek Fly Area boundary on the North Umpqua River. Upon contact the man admitted the fish was "hooked in the side" and that he knew better, but thought he could get away with it because no one was around. He was cited and released for Unlawful Taking Foul-Hooked Salmon.

Angler Check Exposes Two Outstanding Warrants

Sr. Tpr. Collom was checking anglers in the upper Rogue and observed four individuals fishing at the Guard Hole in a manner consistent with snagging. As Sr. Tpr. Collom started checking the anglers, one of them advised that he did not have a license and tag. When asked about the reason why, he indicated because his fishing license was suspended two years ago. A check through ODFW did in fact show that he was suspended until 2014. A check through dispatch also revealed he had two outstanding warrants; one for FTA-DUII out of Deschutes Co, the other was for Theft II out of Klamath County. The angler was cited for Angling while Suspended and was lodged in the Jackson County Jail on the warrants.

Commercial Fisherman Cited

Tpr. Warwick contacted a commercial fisherman who repeatedly throughout the 2013 Tongue Point gillnet season called the ODFW report line and deliberately misrepresented his catch contrary to regulations. The fisherman was cited for Failure to Properly Report Tongue Point Gillnet Catch/Delivery as Required.

Boat Patrol Cites Commercial Salmon Troller

Tpr. Herman and Tpr. Vogel used the Guardian to conduct a boat patrol from Tillamook to Newport. More than 60 recreational boats were boarded, as well as numerous commercial fishing vessels. One commercial salmon troller that was boarded was found to be using more spreads on each line than allowed. The captain stated he knew the regulations, but wanted to "try out some new gear." The captain was cited and released for Fishing for Salmon With More Than 4 Spreads Per Line.

The captain of the boat admitted that he knew his crew need commercial licenses, but was saving money and had not purchased them yet. The Captain was charged with Aiding in a Wildlife Violation - Commercial Fish.

inspection of the catch, it was found that there were 17 undersized dungeness crab and 8 legal dungeness crab on the boat. One subject took responsibility and was cited for Unlawful Possession Undersized Dungeness Crab.

Exceeding Daily Bag Limit of Bay Clams

Tpr. Galusha responded to a call from ODFW at Netarts where they had located a subject that had dug over his limit of bay clams. Upon arrival Tpr. Galusha located a subject with 20 extra bay clams in his possession. The subject told Tpr. Galusha that he dug the extra clams and thought he could dig 20 clams for his 2 year old daughter. The subject was cited for Exceeding Daily Bag Limit of Bay Clams and the clams were released to the Tillamook County Jail.

Clatsop Beach Razor Clam Citation

Tpr. Herman was working razor clam tides on Clatsop Beach when he observed a man digging multiple clams without counting them. The man then walked over to a woman and tried to hand her a handful of clams. The woman would not take the clams and pointed up to Tpr. Herman in his patrol truck 60 yards away. The man looked up, then immediately started walking away from Tpr. Herman. The man was contacted and was found to have 21 razor clams. The man was cited for Exceeding the Daily Bag Limit of Razor Clams and 6 clams were seized.

During the contact, Tpr. McClendon found a 2-3 day old fawn deer alive in the subjects vehicle. The subjects stated that it was found alone in the woods after dark so they took possession of the fawn to care for it. Tpr. McClendon called Sr. Tpr. Bennett. The next day Tpr. McClendon took the fawn to a deer rehabilitation center in Selma. Sr. Tpr. Bennett will follow-up and cite the two individuals responsible for removing the fawn from the wild.

Disabled Hunting/Fishing License Revoked

Sgt. Lea received a phone call from a subject requesting information on his newly issued disabled hunting / fishing license. In the course of the conversation, the 27 year old subject indicated he was having a hard time getting around due to a cast. Sgt. Lea discovered the subject had falsely applied for a disabled license after undergoing a surgery on his lower leg after a basketball injury. Sgt. Lea put the subject on a conference call with ODFW where his disabled license was revoked and the subject promised to return the document. The subject was warned, although cautioned that the charges would be pending if the document was not returned. A follow up call with ODFW set up a notification to Sgt. Lea if the document was not returned.

Four suspects were contacted in the woods cleaning up the deer. They said they had seen the road killed deer lying dead on I-5 and had stopped and picked it up and drove it to a quiet location to gut and clean. They said they travel the US and several states allow road kill to be picked up. Tpr. Imholt cited one for Unlawful Possession of Blacktailed Deer and warned the three others.

Fail to Check in Bear Within 10 Days

While Sr. Tpr. Collom was at ODFW, an individual came in to the office to check in his black bear. ODFW advised Collom of the late notice. Upon contact with the bear hunter Collom remembered this individual from previous bear hunting violations several years ago. Because it had been two months since the kill date and he was supposed to check it in within 10 days after harvest, the subject was cited for Fail to Check in Bear Within 10 Days.

some classrooms. ODFW was contacted and a USDA Wildlife Services Specialist responded with hounds to determine if the cougar was still in close proximity to the school. When Wildlife Services arrived the hounds picked up a fresh scent from the cougar and chased it away from the area but were unable to catch it. In a continued effort to monitor the situation Sr. Tpr. Maher assisted ODFW and Wildlife Services with setting a live trap for the cougar in case it returned. Game cameras were also set up behind the school to help determine if the cougar was still in the area. The trap was in operation for the next two nights. The cougar never returned which was confirmed by it not being in the trap or recorded on any game camera.
